VISION

HOME FITNESS SHAPED AROUND THE CUSTOMER.

Whether they buy one product or a turnkey gym, our ecosystem offers them personalizable equipment, on-demand content, a wealth of communal content, all day apparel, and a full line of home-gym essentials.

On the whole, Squatz is the fitness brand that meets users where they are—at the starting point or finish line.

MISSION

LIFTING YOU TO YOUR NEXT LEVEL.

Fitness means improving. No matter where you are, we help you take it another step or rep. As your lifelong spotter, we keep your goals attainable and the journey enjoyable.

Our platform takes you back in time, recapturing the feel-good vibe that made us fall in love with fitness in the first place. All anchored in belonging to a like-minded community.

Best of all, our brand is shaped around you. Start small, or build your dream home gym: our modular catalog has everything you need to get moving and get stronger. And revel in your progress.

VALUES

SETTING THE BENCHMARK

Anything less than us is a commodity.
Squatz values originality of design, function, and experiences. Our products' look, feel, color scheme, and physical inputs are all deeply considered. There is nothing basic or accidental.

While some highly-trafficked parts are made for cheap, easy replacing (see Value #3), that too is a feature of our thinking. Every aspect of Squatz calls on competitors to improve.

We even set the value benchmark, with high quality-to-price.

QUICKER TO INNOVATE

Fewer celebrities, more engineers.
Our company progresses in the same way we encourage our clients to: consistently, joyfully, and for the right reasons. We are not into more products, but into getting more out of each one.

That means innovating on the hardware, software, and platform levels—so the longer you own a Squatz product, the better your experience. And everything you own is forward-compatible.

Others may say they out-spend us. But we out-invest them.

UNLOCKED FOR REPAIR

A break is a pause, not a full stop.
Proprietary product designs generally come in two varieties:

1. Those that enrich the user's experience.
2. Those that enrich the company selling it...

At Squatz we separate the two. Core mechanisms that affect function are proprietary. But connection points, ropes, and other 'consumables' are replaceable with cheaper generics.

A LOAD OF HEALTHY FUN

When did fitness become so heavy?

Why is fitness synonymous with that chiseled look of 8% body fat? What if you don't want to get a spray tan every month? We are the fitness brand for everyday people who pursue health.

The only thing serious about Squatz is the results. Our products are fun, our content is lighthearted, and our community full of real humans who find joy in pushing themselves harder happier. Why?

Because the ultimate workout is the one that works for you.

TREMENDOUSLY FLEXIBLE

We don't expect 24/7 fitness mode.

Exercising is only one corner of life. It shouldn't take over your entire living space. One way we achieve that is by packing a whole world of programs into one physical product.

Better yet—our flagship boards are so flexible, they fold in two. With premium hinges and wheels, they are only there when you are in active fitness mode. Done? Just fold, roll, and stow.

Or, as our ads will showcase it: "Fit. And finish."

ZERO JUDGEMENT, EVER

Our big idea? Self-confidence is a muscle.

You need to exercise it to grow it. So we treat our community of customers with an attitude that raises their sense of self. That supports their journey. That celebrates their every little win.

Sometimes we express it with feel-good, cheesy videos. On other occasions, through honest messaging that exposes how elitist the rest of the industry has gone. We're always cleverly self-aware.

One example is our myth-busting blog: "Get the Skinny"
